

This whole experience has changed my life so that I now have a new perspective on the way I see life in general. I now know what to keep secret and what not to. School and social life has not changed that much. Grades in some areas such as math are improving while I am struggling in other areas. But this is not new. I feel better that I no longer have a big secret that hurt me and others. I feel he should get 20-30 years. I still love him but I just can't look at him or speak to him. I hope I did alright.

Sincerely,
Sam Hardin
